

BUILDING A THRIVING ENGINEERING COMMUNITY.

Role Description

Open to employees and members.

Institution of
MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

→ Become a Culture Ambassador

At the Institution of Mechanical Engineers, our mission is clear: to “improve the world through engineering”. But this mission goes beyond just innovation and technology—it’s about people. We’re dedicated to building an engineering community where everyone, from our members to our staff, feels included, valued, and empowered to thrive. Together, we can create an environment where all voices come together, ideas flourish, and everyone feels that they belong.

What is the Culture Ambassador Network?

We are building a dynamic network of Culture Ambassadors—passionate volunteers who will play a key role in shaping the inclusive culture within our Institution and across the engineering community. This is your opportunity to make a lasting impact and help create a welcoming space for everyone, especially if you’ve been searching for the right moment to get involved.

What does a Culture Ambassador do?

- Lead Inclusive Initiatives: Collaborate with fellow Ambassadors to identify and drive projects that promote inclusivity. Whether it’s organising events, networking opportunities or advocating for change, you’ll be at the forefront of making IMechE a welcoming place for all.
- Be a Voice for Diversity: Represent the range of perspectives and ensure all voices are heard. Your insights will guide the Diversity and Inclusion Committee in shaping initiatives to maintain a positive language and ensure all voices are heard.
- Champion Our Values: Serve as a role model and promote our commitment to create a values driven organisation.

Why you should Volunteer

- Make a Real Impact: Contribute to a cause that matters—create an environment where everyone feels valued, has a sense of belonging and can truly thrive.
- Grow Professionally and Personally: Engage with fellow Ambassadors, learn from lived experiences and be part of a community.
- Be Recognised: Your efforts in championing our values and building an inclusive engineering community will be acknowledged and celebrated across the Institution.

About you

You might have a passion for inclusion drawn from your own experiences as a member or employee. Perhaps you're eager to get involved, give back, be an ally while building a sense of community. If you're proactive, open-minded, and ready to take initiative, this role is perfect for you!

Time commitment and tenure

As a Culture Ambassador, you'll have the flexibility to engage in initiatives that align with your interests and availability. Whether it's attending meetings, joining working groups, or participating in outreach, your commitment will vary based on your chosen level of involvement.

We're excited to grow our network of Ambassadors over time, connecting with every aspect of IMechE's activities. New Culture Ambassadors will be welcomed annually, with tenure based on your engagement and passion.

Ready to make a difference?

Apply now to become a Culture Ambassador and champion our values within IMechE and beyond.

Together, we can create an engineering community where everyone thrives.

Join us in making a lasting impact—your journey as a Culture Ambassador starts here!